The twenty first century is the century of technologies. Mobile phones, laptops, tablets - there is a huge variety of gadgets nowadays. Obviously, it is hard to find at least one person who doesn't have any of them, almost impossible. They make our life easier. We can find any information using the Internet just in second! Internet also provides us with entertaining resources, such as video hostings, social networking, videogames.

We can find the right way to our destination with the help of satnavs.

But as far as we know, every issue is controversial and has its pros and cons. Despite all of these advantages there is <sup>the</sup> one main disadvantage.

People <sup>have</sup> become addicted to their gadgets, which leads to lack of concentration, lack of sociable skills and, unfortunately, lack of desire to education.

These issues have a harmful impact on modern society. People don't want to be self-<sup>conscious</sup> ~~aware~~ to get education. They rely on new technologies.

They think machines are able to do all ~~the~~ work for them and instead of them. This may lead to the lack of qualified employees.

To sum up, modern technologies are significant almost vital for people nowadays. But addiction to the gadgets have let to less freedom for humans and have made them less productive. The point is that we should concentrate on a real life and not waste all our time on gadgets. Time is not eternal.
